

Larlyn Named “Company of the Year” by ACMO

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

June 4, 2004

Larlyn Property Management Ltd., a national company with headquarters in London, Ontario, was officially named “Company of the Year” today by the Association of Condominium Managers of Ontario (ACMO). The award was presented by Harold Cipin, Chair of ACMO’s Membership Committee, at ACMO’s Annual General Meeting (AGM) held at the Richmond Hill Country Club on June 4, 2004. Larry Holmes, President of Larlyn Property Management, also received special recognition as recipient of the President’s Award, presented for leadership in ACMO programs.

The award, which was one of three new awards instituted by ACMO for this year’s AGM, recognizes a Corporate member (company) for contributions to ACMO through superior performance in dealing with its employee, clients or suppliers. The criterion used for selecting the award recipient is based on programs, individual actions, or ongoing patterns of conduct that have enhanced the reputation of ACMO in the community. Award recipients were selected by ACMO’s Membership Committee after receiving nominations from the members and from other ACMO committees.

“Larlyn has provided an excellent example for all condominium property management companies,” said Don Braden, Executive Director of ACMO. “Larlyn has demonstrated its strength in the marketplace with its steady growth in Ontario and other regions of Canada, and consistently raises the bar for industry standards in quality, training and education, association involvement, community involvement, and superior customer service.”

“We are extremely honoured to receive this recognition from ACMO,” said Larry Holmes, President of Larlyn Property Management. “The credit for this award goes to all our staff, who we believe are some of the most dedicated, educated and hard working employees in the industry.”

Established in 1975, Larlyn provides property and asset management services to owners of condominiums and investors across Canada. The company is internationally recognized as ISO 9001:2000 registered and has received the ACMO 2000 certification from the Condominium Management Standards Council, a testimonial to the emphasis the company puts in raising the bar in customer satisfaction.
